HOLLYWOOD DELIVERY SKILLS FOR EVERYDAY PROFESSIONALS--

By combining my backgrounds in the business, marketing and corporate worlds with professional theater, music and comedy, the private and group classes I teach provide an engaging approach more entertaining than traditional speech pathology, yet more substantive than theater dialect coaching alone. This unique and diverse approach has successfully served corporate CEOs, attorneys, Hollywood actors, Second City comedy improvisers, International leaders, politicians, and executives, real estate agents and commission-based sales professionals, job-seekers and individuals of all industries.

Private coaching sessions take place in a comfortable one-on-one environment live in person or virtually through GoToMeeting/Skype. Both personal and corporate packages are available in many configurations including short and long-term intensives to accommodate busy irregular schedules for those who travel regularly. Group workshops may be customized upon request. Please contact me to discuss your needs and determine if my services are a good fit for you or your organization.
